

What Months Should You Avoid Flying From Chicago?

An analysis of how weather affects flight delays in Chicago.

How many delays are there in Chicago last year? What caused it?

How long are the delays? Does weather affect it?

Therefore, you shouldn't travel from Chicago during December, as the weather during that time of the year is not great for Chicago, with a mixture of rain, snow and fog that results in longer delays compared to the other months.